Life as a Business Student

[Music]

I chose Marketing and Entrepreneurship at Thomas College just because of the kind of the support network that's here. You know, I'm a Kiest Morgan Scholar and I was lucky enough to meet some faculty and staff from the entrepreneurship program and that led me to join that program before even arriving on campus.

I kind of felt the sense of community every time I come here. All I hear is this mantra of community first, community this, community that. And while a lot of places kind of put that as just a saying, when I come here, it's the truth.

So, what I would say outside of the classroom, I've been given the opportunity to network with other professors, with faculty, with staff, with alumni, that I just don't think I would have been able to get anywhere else.

What I've kind of gained from Thomas College is a network, a support network that isn't just inside the classroom, isn't just with faculty and staff, but extends into alumni and our community.
